REPEAT LIONS BENEFIT SHOW THIS EVENING

Gettysburg Lions, out to replenish their Charity Fund which in the last year donated more than $3,300 to community projects, pleased an audience of more than 600 Monday evening in the Gettysburg High School auditorium with their initial presentation of their annual musical show, "Around the Town."

The performance will be repeated at 8 o'clock tonight.

Making use of the most elaborate stage and lighting facilities the show has ever had at its disposal, the musical hit a new high in its first 10 acts that for the first time in the history of the production outdid the minstrel circle and its jokes that filled the second half of the show.

Called "Best Ever"

Colorful costumes, near professional choreography, good stage effects and a variety of skits made the first section of the show the "best ever" in the opinion of many who saw the curtain-raiser.

Only the six endmen were in blackface for the second section of the show but the singing of the brightly dressed "minstrel circle" of 50 voices, largest the show ever has boasted, added much to that part of the production.

The audience seemed to be highly entertained from the opening "television skits," through an "airport" musical scene with solos by Mrs. Rebecca Schwenk, to an "on the way to church" scene with Paul Grove as soloist. Baton twirlers under the direction of Miss Jennie Blachford turned in a good performance and then two "sultan" scenes scored. In the first, costumed dancing girls performed and then a bevy of beefy "harem girls" turned in a less professional performance.

Climax in "Club Crockadero." A chorus of 13 Gettysburg College boys, directed by Donald Bollinger, pleased with their presentation of a spiritual and "Nothing Like a Dame."

Winding up the first section of the show was a fast-stepping scene in "Gettysburg's Own Club Crockadero." Paul Baird was master of ceremonies. There was a number by the "Triads," Joyce Topper, Marguerite Gunnet and Shirley Carbaugh, with Mrs. Fred Siegel as the accompanist. Eddie Trostle did a "Johnny Ray" number the crowd liked and then while the "Hot Combo" of five Gettysburg High School students played "Tuxedo Junction" the night club patrons danced. A solo by Don Halley was another highlight of the scene.

It was with considerable pleasure that we read in The Gettysburg Times, of course, that Adams County processors and fruit growers had been cleared of all charges of conspiring to fix fruit prices.

When the charges were first filed we could not bring ourselves to believe they were true. And we believed that nearly everybody else in Adams County felt the same way.

Men of the calibre of John H. Hauser, Biglerville, and M. E. Knouse, Ardenstville, presidents of the C. H. Musselman Company and Knouse Foods, respectively, just could not conspire to violate any law, regardless of who was affected. They are men of repute, of good Christian character, high principles, integrity and honesty, utterly impossible for them to be guilty of such charges.

Others similarly charged were of the same mind.

Yet, despite these things, these men were subjected to trial, not once, but twice... although the federal examiner who heard the evidence twice directed that the charges be dismissed.

Men of such prominence as Mr. Knouse and Mr. Hauser, whose character, morals, business dealings and general reputation for all that is decent and high principled are unquestioned, should be protected from such unfounded accusations... and those who are guilty of making baseless charges should be made to publicly apologize to them.

There is an unwritten rule in the news room of The Gettysburg Times never to publish an anonymous letter. Today we break that rule with the following communication received this morning. It follows in full, just as it was written, and without editing:

Lockheed F104A Starfighter Flies At More Than 1,000 MPH

PALMDALE, Calif. (AP) — The Lockheed F104A Starfighter, a missile with a man in it, has flown more than 1,000 miles an hour.

Several hundred persons, including the largest gathering of news writers of its kind, witnessed the achievement yesterday. It was the fastest an aircraft ever has flown before a sizable audience.

It was the first public showing of this dazzling new craft which Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff, has called "the fastest and highest flying fighter anywhere in the sky."

The exact speed of the plane is a secret. Actually two models were flown—the original XF104, powered by a Curtiss-Wright J65 jet engine, and the production model F104A, which has a lighter and more powerful engine, the General Electric J79.

Although the speeds were not disclosed, the pilot of an F94C jet fighter reported he was flying 500 miles an hour, and the F104A pilot, Herman R. (Fish) Salmon, was heard to reply over his radio, "I am doing better than twice that fast."

WOOD CUTTING IS OUTLINED TO CRAFTS' GUILD

Wood cutting, an ancient art still used in printing and newspaper work, was discussed by Robert Paxton, art instructor at the Northern Joint High School, Dillsburg, Monday night at a meeting of the Arts and Crafts Guild of Adams County at the YWCA at 8 o'clock. Miss Jean Thomas, program chairman, introduced the speaker.

"The woodcutter finds enjoyment in handling the texture of the wood and in the carving itself. A beginner in this art uses plastic and linoleum blocks for carving designs before using wood," Paxton said.

Paxton demonstrated the making of a wood cut using various tools, paper and woods. Cherry, maple, beech, poplar, red wood and pine are frequently used. The wood is usually seasoned for best results, he explained.

Displays Prints

"In the making of a wood cut, a design is drawn on the wood and then carved with a knife, edge, gouge or beveled-edge tool. After the design is carved, an oil base ink is applied with a brayer. The paper is then placed on the cut. An ordinary kitchen spoon makes an excellent tool for pressing the design on the paper by pressing the bowl of the spoon firmly and evenly over the entire cut. The early Japanese used a baron, which is made of bamboo and rice stalks, instead of the spoon to achieve the same effect. After the print is made it is mounted, signed and ready to hang," he said.

The speaker displayed several of his own finished prints and a number of handmade wood cuts. A social hour was held. Hostesses were: Mrs. Lorraine Routsong, chairman, Miss Jean Thomas, Mrs. Mildred McBeth and Mrs. Charles L. Taylor.

EAST BERLIN AVERTS WRECK

Irvin J. Baker, East Berlin, was credited by members of the crew of a Western Maryland Railway freight train with averting a train wreck Sunday about 2 p.m. between New Oxford and Gettysburg. Baker, according to the railroad's report, had stopped his car at the crossing on the Lincoln Highway in New Oxford to await the passing of the freight Extra 23, from Baltimore to Hagerstown, in charge of Conductor C. L. Sweeney, Hagerstown.

While watching the train Baker noticed a journal box on a freight car near the end of the train blazing. He drove several miles to Gulden's Station and ran to the tracks in time to signal the engine crew.

The train was stopped and the car, a hopper loaded with blue dust destined for Gettysburg, was switched to a siding, where the blaze was extinguished.

Conductor Sweeney told Baker the fire had not been noticed by members of his crew and the prompt action on his part possibly prevented an accident.

Countian To Face Code Violation

A charge of reckless driving is to be filed before Justice of the Peace C. W. Crider Jr., Rouzer, against James A. Link, 18, Littlestown R. 2, as the result of a collision of two cars on the Sunshine Trail, three miles east of Waynesboro, at 3 p.m. Saturday. Link suffered a bruised forehead in the crash but refused medical attention, police reported.

Traveling west on the Sunshine Trail, police said Link apparently was inattentive and his car crashed into the rear of another westbound vehicle operated by John W. Fridinger, 45, Waynesboro R. 4.

Damage to the Link car was estimated at $300 and to the Fridinger car at $100.

Child Is Injured In Auto Accident

Cheryl Tate, 6, 46 Steinwehr Ave., suffered a possible broken nose when a station wagon driven by her mother, Mrs. Lois S. Tate, and a sedan collided three miles north of here on the Mummasburg Rd.

State police said a passing motorist brought the mother and child to Gettysburg for treatment for the youngster.

The accident occurred, police said, when Mrs. Tate, southbound, collided with the left front fender of a car being operated north by L. A. Bierly, 32, Iron Springs R. 1, as Bierly sought to make a left turn into a township road in the path of Mrs. Tate's car.

After the collision the station wagon went off the road and turned over on its side. Damage was estimated at $200 to the Tate station wagon and $90 to Bierly's sedan.

at his office as usual Monday morning. Later in the day he called Mrs. Appler to take over the duties of the office and went home.

Mrs. Appler called Bernard Murphy to operate the treasurer's office and returned to her home, found that Mr. Appler was not improving and called a physician. Appler was then removed to the Warner Hospital.

First notice given of the nature of his illness came from Judge W. C. Sheely who told the grand jury at 5 o'clock that the jurors could not be paid that evening because the treasurer had suffered a heart attack. Checks will be mailed to the grand jurors.

GINGELL AND FATHER MIGNOT ARE INDICTED

George W. Gingell, 42, Fairfield R. D., was indicted by an Adams County grand jury Monday afternoon on a charge of murdering Lee Wayne Mainer, 32, Blue Ridge Summit, a native of Spartansburg, S. C.

Gingell is accused of shooting Mainer with a .410 gauge shotgun early on the morning of March 24 at the Tract Inn parking lot near the Maryland line south of Fairfield on the Tract Rd. Mainer, badly wounded, was brought to the 180 pellets of the shotgun shell striking him, was brought to the Warner Hospital after the incident and died there on the morning of March 25. Gingell has been in the county jail since that time on the murder charge.

Also indicted by the grand jury were the Rev. Francis L. Mignot, former head of Paradise Protective, Abbotstown, on a charge of cheating by false pretense; Charles J. Myers, William C. Carter and T. J. Fleck, all of York, charged with transporting and possessing liquor which did not have a Pennsylvania seal; and Herman W. Jones, Littlestown, larceny and receiving stolen goods.

Costs On Prosecutor
"Not a true bill" was found for Mervin Kauffman, Orrtanna R. 1, charged with larceny by Lewis Metz, also of Orrtanna R. D. With the dismissing of the case against Kauffman, the costs of the case, about $50, were levied by the grand jury against Metz. At the conclusion of Court Monday, Metz was given three months in which to pay the costs.

District Attorney Daniel E. Teeter reported to the court that Albert P. Touten, Rome, N. Y., had waived presentment of the involuntary manslaughter charge against him to the grand jury, had entered a plea of "innocent" and will stand trial on the case.

The grand jury completed its work at 5 o'clock, too late to make the usual tour of the county buildings, but decided to turn in a report on the court house. The jury expressed its appreciation on the improvements to the skylights, installation of new lights and work in the law library and elsewhere in the court house. Marlin VanDyke, Gettysburg R. D., was the foreman of the grand jury.

ARREST MEN IN MENDES-FRANCE MURDER PLOT

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — Two Frenchmen were arrested early today and charged with attempting to murder former Premier Pierre Mendes-France — six hours after he had left for Paris.

A police guard at the French residence, where the pair thought Mendes-France was a guest, surprised the men after they had climbed into a residence bedroom about 1 a.m. Resident General Andre Dubois was away in Paris too.

Police said one of the men, Raymond Beniran of Port Lyauette, wounded the guard with a revolver. The policeman fired back, hitting the intruder.

Escapee Arrested

The other man escaped but was arrested soon after in a Rabat bar. He had a briefcase containing a revolver and several hand grenades which he had showed some hours earlier to a friend. The friend told police of the plot.

The second man was identified as Louis Peroun, 31, a reserve officer living in Rabat. Police said he made no effort to resist arrest.

Mendes-France, who had left for Paris Monday night, is now a minister of state in Premier Guy Mollet's Cabinet. French residents in Casablanca had demonstrated against him during his visit to Morocco, accusing him of sacrificing French interests in North Africa by starting home rule talks with Tunisia in 1954.

Asks Study Of Doe Hunting Problem

Assemblyman Francis Worley Monday evening in the lower House at Harrisburg introduced a resolution calling for a study by the joint State Government Commission on the question of an open, closed or limited season on female deer in Pennsylvania.

Mr. Worley said he introduced the resolution because many sportsmen are concerned about the problem of the best handling of the doe hunting season. The commission would make the study between sessions of the Legislature and then submit a report and recommendation at the next session. The resolution was referred to the rules committee.

Mr. Worley has two other resolutions calling for studies of mental institutions and the functions of the justice of the peace awaiting approval in the omnibus bill now on the House calendar.

BRIDE-TO-BE IS RECEIVING MANY BEAUTIFUL GIFTS

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
MONTE CARLO (AP) — The diamonds, lions, limousines and other wedding gifts sent Grace Kelly and Prince Rainier could easily reach the million-dollar figure.

When all the gifts are in and counted, the newlyweds will be in position to open an adequately stocked jewelry store, a used-and-only slightly used-car lot, an antique shop, liquor store, art gallery, zoo or specialty shop for oddments.

The number of gifts already runs to several hundred. Palace officials, far behind in their cataloging, have little idea of the actual total value.

The jewels and such items already announced run to at least $300,000. These include $150,000 worth of matching baubles from the citizens of Monaco and a $40,000 diamond and ruby item—usable as a necklace or a tiara—from the gambling casino controlled by shipowner Aristotle Onassis.

From 25 Governments

Gifts have poured in from royalty all over Europe, from official representatives of 25 governments, from scores of Miss Kelly's wealthy friends, from every sizable foreign colony, from Monaco officials and from just plain well-wishers.

The palace concierge has been accepting a steady stream of French cheeses, wines, embroidery, handicrafts and such for many days.

The Prince's zoo has benefited to the extent of two Canadian beavers, two long-legged cranes and two lion cubs, the latter from the Sultan of Morocco.

Notably missing from the announced list of gifts are such traditional standbys as coffee pots, electric mixers, toasters and kitchen equipment. No complaint about this has been heard from either Grace or the Prince.

Conrad Hilton, President Eisenhower's personal representative for the wedding, said he brought the President's "best wishes" but no present from the White House. He didn't bring a present from himself either.

"NOWHERE ELSE"

Where else except America . . . can folks do as they choose . . . where else but in this blessed land . . . is there so much to lose . . . where else is freedom so complete . . . for everyone to share . . . where else is how we work or worship . . . just our own affair . . . what other place upon this earth . . . offers an average man . . . the opportunity to gain . . . fulfillment of his plan . . . I've traveled very far and wide . . . to countries great and small . . . but they are second to the spot . . . I love the most of all . . . for none can hold a candle to . . . the standard we enjoy . . . and so through jealousy some seek . . . to plunder and destroy . . . but truth is strong and freedom is . . . a treasure we hold dear . . . we'll fight to keep the priceless things . . . found nowhere else but here.

GRACE LUNCHEONS WITH PRINCE ON EVE OF WEDDING

By EDDY GILMORE

MONTE CARLO (AP)—Grace Kelly, who is to marry Prince Rainier III today for the last time as an American girl from Philadelphia.

The film queen marries the ruler of this little Riviera principality of Monaco in a civil ceremony in the throne room of his palace shortly before noon tomorrow. Religious rites will follow Thursday in the Roman Catholic Cathedral of Monaco.

Friends described the bride-to-be as "looking simply radiant." One quoted her as saying: "Everything is working out wonderfully. Just like a fairy tale, and even the sun has come out."

For four days rain has poured in torrents, drenching this usually sunny resort on the blue Mediterranean. Today things were more like the travel posters.

Prince Likes Silence

The temperature was in the 60's. The weatherman said the "prospects for fair weather for the wedding tomorrow are good."

To one of his friends the Prince confided:

"My God, I'll be glad when this is over. What I need is the silence of the sea—with Grace."

Rainier and Grace will sail away Thursday after the religious ceremony on his yacht, the Deo Juvante II.

As the Prince fretted, Grace went about the palace smiling and laughing. She personally helped the young pages with the fancy clothes they'll wear at her cathedral wedding.

Last night was given over to excited rereading of girl talk.

Second Announced Theft

Grace was hostess to her bridesmaids at a gay party in Rainier's palace. The Prince, who is living at his villa until after the weddings, was present for awhile, but the occasion was strictly for the girls.

The girls gathered around Grace at last night's party agreed to a minor conspiracy to keep one bit of Monte Carlo news away from her. They did not tell her about the latest theft of jewels from some of the wedding guests.

Those present included Mrs. Marce Pamp of Philadelphia, a bridesmaid from whom a burglar took gems valued at $10,000.

Hostess At Party

"I didn't want to do anything to distress Grace at such a moment and said nothing about it," Mrs. Pamp said. "Luckily I was wearing my wedding ring and had it with me at the party."

It was the second announced jewel loss by members of the Kelly party. Last Friday thieves took $45,000 in gems from the room of Mrs. Matthew McCloskey, wife of the national treasurer of the Democratic party.

One woman wedding guest, on hearing of Mrs. Pamp's loss, exclaimed: "Oh! That makes four."

Then seeing there were reporters around her, she refused to answer questions and added: "Oh! I've said too much."

Authorities denied knowledge of any unpublishable robberies. They had, however, previously denied that Mrs. McCloskey's jewels were missing. In the Pamp case, they would say only that they knew of the theft.

a lover of humanity, as a business man, as a cooperative individual, and last but not least, as a subscriber to the Gettysburg Times — will someone PLEASE tell me why our teenagers must monopolize the telephone?

Five minutes isn't even warm-up-time — they must have twenty-five minutes! And when the element of this time is presented to them (at least I find it so with my daughters) "Oh! Why — how could you! — a few minutes on the phone, and — and — oh what's the world comin' to!" Will any teen-ager, whoever you are, care to enlighten this writer (and he has hundreds of other parent-friends wanting to share the same answer too) WHY you ignore the suggestions, requests, advice — yes — even warnings, on long-time phone conversations???

To limit your calls to five minutes COULD save a life; get a Doctor; an ambulance; a taxi; prevent a fire; aid an anxious mother home from the store; yes, and may even save YOUR LIFE!!!

SECURITY PLANS REHEARSED FOR TWO BIG REDS

LONDON (AP)—Scotland Yard called a last-minute dress rehearsal today of the elaborate security arrangements it will throw around Soviet Premier Bulganin and Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev, due in Britain tomorrow morning.

The Yard pressed its biggest peacetime check to put on ice known British and foreign Communist-haters who might try to annoy or assassinate the two Russian leaders during their 10-day official tour.

Claridges Hotel, where the visitors will occupy a 50-room suite, swarmed with Soviet officials and guards and with British policemen in and out of uniform.

Search Buildings

Apartment and office buildings in the area were searched. Their occupants were questioned and more than 1,000 names were taken.

Every window looking on the Russians' rooms was charted. A particularly close watch was kept on refugees from Communist countries.

Bulganin and Khrushchev, meanwhile, sailed steadily toward Portsmouth aboard the cruiser Ordzhonikidze. Moscow radio gave this description of life aboard the ship:

"There is great interest among the crew in everything connected with England. Officers and ratings (seamen) take part in song and dance groups. Eloquence is another feature of the program. The latest, incidentally, includes poems by Robert Burns and some of Shakespeare's sonnets."

Two Soviet aircraft arrived with a load of vodka, champagne and caviar for the functions at which the Russians will return British hospitality. An advance group of Soviet officials also came in.

IKE AVOIDS BEING PUT ON DEFENSIVE

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Who struck John?

In this case the farmers are John. They'll have to decide in this presidential election year whether to blame Democrats or Republicans for the fall in their income, particularly if it keeps going down.

Within the past 24 hours—with Democrats and Republicans both aching for the farm vote—farmers have become a roaring campaign issue in a series of events which may leave them scratching their heads:

Ike Strikes Back

1. President Eisenhower vetoed the farm bill passed by the Democratic-run Congress with the help of farm state Republicans. The Democrats said this bill was just what the farmers needed to bail them out.

2. Immediately the Democrats began trying to make political capital of the veto. They said Eisenhower himself had dealt the farmers a "direct blow" and that he would have to take "full blame" for the farmers' troubles.

3. Eisenhower struck back in a nationwide broadcast last night, blaming Congress for giving him a bill which he said he had to veto as a matter of conscience because it would do more harm than good.

Realized Risk

This was one of the few times in Eisenhower's three White House years when, by direct action of his own, he risked losing a vast chunk of personal popularity, as he will if the farmers now blame him for their plight.

He made it clear he knew he was taking a political chance by acknowledging he had been told "what a risky thing in an election year to veto this bill."

Besides the farm state Republicans who voted for the bill, three farm state Republican governors flew here to urge him to sign it and two farm organizations favored the measure: the National Grange and the National Farmers Union. A third group, the Ameri-

Stolen Violin Not Exactly Usuable Now

DALLAS (AP)—If the thief who stole a violin from the East Dallas Christian Church has any aspirations for a concert career, he is going to be disappointed with his loot. Church officials said the instrument was strung backwards, the D string is knotted, the seams are buckling, and parts fall out when the violin is handled. Besides, the thief left the bow behind.

Democrats Hoot

Eisenhower, who has had some experience in generalship, refused to let the Democrats put him on the defensive, or at least entirely on the defensive.

The bill passed by this Democratic-run Congress would have restored high, rigid supports. Although vetoing the Democrats' high support bill, Eisenhower at the same time announced he was going to increase price supports—although not up to the Democrats' figure—to give farmers an additional 600 million dollars in benefits this year.

Democrats hooted at this reasoning. Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler said Eisenhower had the authority to raise prices any time since becoming president but does it now "after farmers have lost three billion dollars."

Handed Out Challenge

But Eisenhower wrapped a challenge around the Democrats' necks, knowing the farmers would be watching to see what happened.

He urged Congress to pass this year a soil bank program that would pay farmers for cutting down on production by withdrawing acreage from surplus crops. He said it would, if passed with a provision for part payments when farmers sign contracts, give farmers up to 500 million dollars additional this year.

Now it's up to the farmers to figure out who hit them, if anybody, or whether they knocked themselves out by overproducing.

The typical U.S. aged man is married and the typical woman a widow.

KEY DEMOCRATS REACT COLDLY TO IKE'S NEW FARM REQUEST

By DONALD SANDERS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Key Democrats reacted coldly today to President Eisenhower's new request for a soil bank program while they awaited the outcome of an uphill House attempt to override his veto of the farm bill.

That effort, due tomorrow, seemed doomed to fall short of mustering the two-thirds margin required.

Political debate over the veto and over responsibility for the decline in farm income was stepped up.

Politics Not Involved

Eisenhower, in a nationwide television and radio broadcast last night explaining his veto, insisted that politics had not entered into his decision.

"I will always resist any attempt to make the farmer and his problems a political football," he said.

Declaring that he had vetoed the big farm bill with keen disappointment, he said:

"I Had No Choice"

"I had no choice. I could not sign this bill into law because it was a bad bill. In the months ahead, it would hurt more farmers than it would help. In the long run it would hurt all farmers. It was a bad bill for the country."

Eisenhower urged again that Congress act speedily to approve his soil bank program. It is designed to pay farmers subsidies totaling as much as $1,200,000,000 yearly for taking land out of production of crops already in surplus. They would sign contracts with the government to do so.

This time, Eisenhower added a new feature he said would give farmers an extra 500 million dollars this year.

Help For Farmer In '56

"By a simple provision in the Soil Bank Act," he said, "The Congress can authorize the government to begin making payments to a maximum of 50 per cent after the farmer signs a contract.

"This immediately after July 1, 1956, farmers who agree to participate . . . will be eligible for payment. These initial payments will help our farmers this crop year."

Eisenhower said the remaining 50 per cent of the amount any farmer was entitled to for participation would be paid when he had complied with his agreement to take land out of cash production and put it to conservation uses.

The soil bank was one feature of the bill which Eisenhower vetoed yesterday.

Was Major Rebuff

But in a major rebuff to the White House, the Democratic-controlled Congress linked it with other major farm law changes which Eisenhower opposed.

"It was confusing," he said last night, "in some respects, self-defeating, and so awkward and clumsy as to make its administration difficult or impractical. . . . We got a hodge podge in which the bad provisions more than canceled out the good."

Democratic leaders who have defended the measure as the best and quickest way to get more money into farmers' pockets have said they do not expect Congress to approve any substitute bill.

No Sign Of Change

There was no indication that this attitude had changed because of Eisenhower's revised recommendation on the soil bank. Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said yesterday: "Congress is not going to roll over and play dead at the crack of a whip."

Rep. Poage (D-Tex.), a senior member of the House Agriculture Committee, said in an interview today that "the soil bank alone is out — it won't add one cent to the farmers' income."

Poage professed to see a chance that the House would vote to override Eisenhower's veto "if the Republicans who voted with us last week will vote with us again, and if the Democrats all stick together."

Speaker of the House Rayburn (D-Tex.) refused to make any prediction, however, and other Democratic leaders hold out little hope they could override the veto.

The House passed the bill 237-181 last week. If the same number of members voted, it would require 279 votes to override the veto. And there were signs that at least some of the 48 Republicans who voted for the bill would not vote to override the Republican President's veto.

Several said they accepted Eisenhower's decision although they would have been happier if he had approved the bill.

None of them endorsed publicly the assertion by GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall that the veto will help Republican chances in the November elections for control of the White House and Congress.

"The President was absolutely right in vetoing the farm bill and his decision will be sustained by the American people," Hall said.

Hall's Democratic counterpart, Paul M. Butler, called the veto

(... and America votes it
The Gear of the Year)

IT'S AN ECONOMY CHAMPION, TOO!

Jetaway-equipped Oldsmobiles rocketed to double victory in 1956 Mobilgas Economy Run!

HERE'S A CANDIDATE for the most talked-about "secret" of all time! It's the secret of the smoothness—the revolutionary second coupling—in Oldsmobile's new Jetaway Hydra-Matic.*

Oldsmobile first used a fluid coupling to cushion automatic gear transitions in the original Hydra-Matic Drive. And it was this famous transmission that opened the door to the whole era of automatic driving.

Now, in Oldsmobile's new Jetaway, not one, but two fluid couplings harness the go-power of the mighty Rocket Engine—soften the surge of Rocket action!

Fluid in the second coupling fills and spills with jetlike speed—cushions gear transitions so they're almost imperceptible! In other words, Jetaway seconds the motion—gives you all the flow of fluid, yet retains all the solid, thrilling go of gears!

NEW DUAL DOWNSHIFTING FOR EXTRA SAFETY!

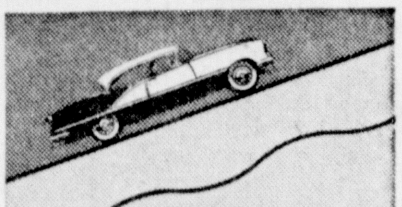

What's more, Jetaway features new dual downshift action—at traffic and cruising speeds—to split-second the motion, too. Just wait till you try it, teamed with Oldsmobile's new Rocket Engine—240 horsepower strong, charged with a 9.25-to-1 compression ratio—delivering a breath-taking 350 lb.-ft. of torque!

JETAWAY SMOOTHNESS... BEAUTY TO MATCH!

You'll go for the glamor of Oldsmobile, too! There's massive magnificence and solid assurance in the advance-design "Intagril Bumper." It's two front bumpers in one for protection high and low—an Oldsmobile first, an Oldsmobile exclusive—more unmistakable evidence of Oldsmobile's styling leadership! And it's all underscored by Oldsmobile's ruggedly-built, quality-built chassis featuring sturdy Six-Point Suspension to increase riding comfort and roadability.

Sum it all up—performance, power and appearance—you've got to go some to equal it! Yet Oldsmobile prices start right down with many models in the low-price field—and value is right up with the highest at resale time! Stop at our showroom for a demonstration, now!
